

Classification of radices (SDRForum)
 SDRForum is a non-profit organization that promotes the use of Software Defined Radio (SDR) in the field of amateur radio. It was founded in 2005 and is currently active in Germany, Austria, and Switzerland. SDRForum is a member of the German Radio Society (DRG) and the Austrian Radio Society (ÖRV).
SDRForum	SDRForum is a non-profit organization that promotes the use of Software Defined Radio (SDR) in the field of amateur radio. It was founded in 2005 and is currently active in Germany, Austria, and Switzerland. SDRForum is a member of the German Radio Society (DRG) and the Austrian Radio Society (ÖRV).
SDRForum	SDRForum is a non-profit organization that promotes the use of Software Defined Radio (SDR) in the field of amateur radio. It was founded in 2005 and is currently active in Germany, Austria, and Switzerland. SDRForum is a member of the German Radio Society (DRG) and the Austrian Radio Society (ÖRV).
SDRForum	SDRForum is a non-profit organization that promotes the use of Software Defined Radio (SDR) in the field of amateur radio. It was founded in 2005 and is currently active in Germany, Austria, and Switzerland. SDRForum is a member of the German Radio Society (DRG) and the Austrian Radio Society (ÖRV).
SDRForum	SDRForum is a non-profit organization that promotes the use of Software Defined Radio (SDR) in the field of amateur radio. It was founded in 2005 and is currently active in Germany, Austria, and Switzerland. SDRForum is a member of the German Radio Society (DRG) and the Austrian Radio Society (ÖRV).
SDRForum	SDRForum is a non-profit organization that promotes the use of Software Defined Radio (SDR) in the field of amateur radio. It was founded in 2005 and is currently active in Germany, Austria, and Switzerland. SDRForum is a member of the German Radio Society (DRG) and the Austrian Radio Society (ÖRV).
SDRForum	SDRForum is a non-profit organization that promotes the use of Software Defined Radio (SDR) in the field of amateur radio. It was founded in 2005 and is currently active in Germany, Austria, and Switzerland. SDRForum is a member of the German Radio Society (DRG) and the Austrian Radio Society (ÖRV).
SDRForum	SDRForum is a non-profit organization that promotes the use of Software Defined Radio (SDR) in the field of amateur radio. It was founded in 2005 and is currently active in Germany, Austria, and Switzerland. SDRForum is a member of the German Radio Society (DRG) and the Austrian Radio Society (ÖRV).
SDRForum	SDRForum is a non-profit organization that promotes the use of Software Defined Radio (SDR) in the field of amateur radio. It was founded in 2005 and is currently active in Germany, Austria, and Switzerland. SDRForum is a member of the German Radio Society (DRG) and the Austrian Radio Society (ÖRV).